Beyond word of mouth, general press coverage, or standard marketing and promotion, the stations of All Classical Portland address issues of cultural vitality, arts community viability, the significance of music as it relates to the human experience, health and education by dedicating significant airtime to conversations and performance to these community initiatives. These unique opportunities serve to enlighten a diverse audience within a broad region while deepening relationships with community partner organizations.

Special programming dealing with local issues include the following programs:

ICAN BECOME is a radio series where youth hosts interview professionals in a career they are interested in pursuing.

NORTHWEST PREVIEWS All Classical Portland's celebration of the local arts scene. A five-minute program highlighting arts events for the upcoming weekend and week ahead.

ON DECK WITH YOUNG MUSICIANS A weekly interview with young classical performers from Oregon and Southwest Washington.

Klara is a recent graduate of the IB program at Cleveland High School and a violinist with the Metropolitan Youth Symphony. In this episode of On Deck, Klara speaks with Raúl Gómez-Rojas about her experience learning, rehearsing, and performing Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 with MYS. In the fall, Klara plans to attend Carleton College, where she will not major in music, but hopes to continue playing in chamber and orchestral ensembles.	8/19/23	5:00 PM	9:54
Rhys is an 18-year-old multi-genre, multi-instrumentalist and West Linn High School senior. His principal instrument is the piano, but he also sings and plays the cello, guitar, and bass. He loves playing classical, jazz, and pop. He profoundly loves music and is intently focused on music as a career: he is headed to Berklee College of Music in the Fall. Throughout this high school career, though, Rhys has found it a bit difficult to connect with his peers about his love of classical music, Rhys talks about this struggle.	08/26/23	5:00 PM	9:23
Naomi is a 16-year-old cellist who not only plays in the Metropolitan Youth Symphony, but she also -as a freshman- started a chamber orchestra at Lincoln High School. Raúl Gómez-Rojas talks with Naomi about leadership, being the youngest member of almost every ensemble she's been a part of, and how the orchestra is like a sports team. Naomi also loves learning languages (Mandarin, Spanish, German) and appreciates how those languages foster connections.	09/09/23	5:00 PM	9:53
